

Maths

At The Robert Ogden School, pupils experience a personalised and bespoke curriculum, to gain key mathematical skills across topic areas that then can be transferred into everyday life. Pupils can then develop independence as much as possible to their individual potential. Learners are given opportunity to transfer knowledge and skills across all school life and when out in the community.